Bargaining Update

Introduction

Bargaining Update provides information about the unionized workforce, primarily in Alberta. There are approximately 2,018,800 Albertans employed, of which about 351,400 are self-employed. Nationally, the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate decreased from 7.9% in October 2010, to 7.6% in November 2010, with the number of unemployed persons decreasing by 58,800 to a total of 1,426,900. While the number of part-time workers rose by 26,700 or 4% nationally, there were 11,500 or 1.4% fewer full time workers. Unemployment in Alberta decreased from 129,500 in October 2010, to 119,900 in November 2010, with the rate decreasing from 6.0% to 5.6%. There are approximately 426,900 Albertans covered by union agreements. Alberta's union coverage rate is 25.6% while nationwide the union coverage rate is 31.7% *

Note

Employee counts may change over the term of the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA). The number of employees covered by an agreement is based on the number of employees reported when a CBA is filed. Settlement data reflects the percent change in wages over the term of the agreement.

Wage change percentages are weighted. Details of the calculation methodology can be obtained from the Collective Bargaining Information Services Unit of Alberta Employment and Immigration by calling (780) 427-8301 or emailing cba.submissions@gov.ab.ca.

British Columbia

The dismissal of two unionized employees for comments made about managers in their workplace has been upheld by the BC Labour Relations Board. The two were working for a Pitt Meadows' car dealership which had been recently organized by UFCW. They apparently posted defamatory comments about the managers and the dealership on Facebook. One of the employees was an active organizer of the union, while the other was a supporter. The case is believed to be the first of its kind in Canada.

Ontario

Toronto City Council has voted 28-17 calling on the provincial government to declare the Toronto Transit Commission an essential service. There have been nine transit strikes in Toronto since 1952, including a wildcat strike in 2006, with the longest one lasting 23 days. The most recent strike on April 2008 disrupted service for 36 hours, and cost the City an estimated $50 million. About 10,000 transit workers are represented by the ATU, Local 113. The President of the Local 113 has stated that the number of strikes has not been significant and that City Council should redirect its focus to funding transit. If the provincial government were to declare the Toronto Transit Commission an essential service, then strikes and lockouts would be permitted, but a continued level of service would be required to be maintained.

Quebec

About 1,500 research assistants at McGill University in Montreal have voted 83 per cent in favour of joining PSAC. With more than 20,000 members on eight campuses, PSAC has more members than any other union in the Quebec university sector. PSAC has recently organized three other employee groups at McGill: 400 professional researchers in September 2010; 1,600 administrative and technical support employees in June 2010; and 3,000 contract employees in December 2009. Meanwhile, on December 3, 2010, PSAC was certified to represent about 4,000 administrative and technical support employees of research teams at the University of Montreal.

Wal-Mart and UFCW have reached a settlement in an 18-month trademark dispute. In June 2009, Wal-Mart filed a motion in a Quebec court claiming trademark infringement by the UFCW on a website aimed at Wal-Mart employees. The motion noted the UFCW website's logo was very similar to that of Wal-Mart, and the website had "walmart" in its URL address. The settlement appears to involve removal of the logo from the UFCW website, but the address and other similarities remain. Wal-Mart and the UFCW have had other differences in recent years. In November 2009, the Supreme Court of Canada backed Wal-Mart's right to close a store in Jonquière which workers had attempted to unionize, and the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal ruled the UFCW properly won union certification for a Wal-Mart store in Weyburn.

Quebec's Essential Services Council has approved the terms of a strike agreement between the City of Sherbrooke and 397 outside workers, represented by CUPE, Local 2729. The parties have been attempting to reach a new agreement for almost three years. The two sides have been unable to reach an agreement on the length of a new contract, with the City wanting it to last to 2014, and the union wanting a shorter term. Other outstanding issues are job security and scheduling. To put pressure on negotiations, the union went on strike December 26, 2010. Important services such as snow cleaning and sanding will not be affected, but there will be delays in garbage pick-up and recreational facilities will be closed. The employees will return to work January 7, 2011.

Newfoundland and Labrador

Members of the Amalgamated Transit Union, Local 1462 went on strike on November 4, 2010. The employer, Metrobus, has offered the employees 15.5 per cent over four years, but the union is seeking a more favourable group insurance plan for new employees than that offered by the employer. The strike is occurring in the midst of a Cityfunded review of the entire Metrobus service, which has seen ridership decline since 2006. Between 9,000 and 14,000 people use public transportation in St. John's each day, many of them students.
