Link to 2005-08 Government of Alberta Business Plan

Economic Development contributes primarily to goals 1 and 3, and indirectly to goal 2, of the Government of Alberta business plan:

GOAL 1: ALBERTA WILL HAVE A DIVERSIFIED AND PROSPEROUS ECONOMY

Economic Development provides strategic information and planning input for Alberta's economy. The Ministry facilitates a coordinated approach to address Alberta's economic challenges in collaboration with other government ministries. Securing Tomorrow's Prosperity endorses a more diversified and competitive Alberta. The Ministry also has ten sector teams that partner with industry clients and other stakeholders to improve the competitiveness of Alberta's industries. Sector teams were created to focus on opportunities for sector growth and development and to resolve issues within the sector that fall within the economic development mandate. The teams provide advice to the Ministry, identifying where the government can play a greater role in increasing the growth, diversification and competitiveness of the sector through policy development. The sector teams are:

- Architecture/Engineering/Construction
- · Agri-food
- · Petrochemicals and Refined Products
- · Health and Bio-Industries
- Information and Communications Technologies

- · Aerospace and Aviation
- · Building Products
- · Environmental Products and Services
- Industrial Machinery and Equipment
- Tourism

GOAL 2: ALBERTANS WILL BE WELL PREPARED FOR LIFELONG LEARNING AND WORK

Economic Development supports strategies related to immigration and the implementation of options to increase Albertans' participation in the workforce. The Ministry also supports strategies to develop and maintain a skilled workforce, and to address labour shortages and skills deficits in Alberta.

GOAL 3: ALBERTA'S INTERNATIONAL COMPETITIVENESS WILL BE ENHANCED

Economic Development has developed Alberta's International Marketing Strategy and targets priority markets for investment attraction, tourism and trade. It also maintains a presence in key international regions through a network of international offices, currently located in Asia, Europe and North America. The Ministry promotes the Alberta Advantage and markets Alberta internationally as a desirable location for investment and businesses, in addition to marketing Alberta's exports and company capabilities.

SIGNIFICANT OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES

Despite increasing global change, Alberta's economy continues to be in a position of strength with respect to most key economic indicators. Investment levels enjoyed over the past decade have provided Albertans with the most enviable record in Canada in terms of job creation, average family income, standard of living and low overall tax burden.

Looking ahead, the challenge for Alberta will be to sustain our economic performance and to reduce the risk of economic instability by broadening and diversifying our economic base.

Fiscal discipline and strong resource revenues allowed the government to set aside sufficient financial assets by the end of 2004-05 to pay off the province's remaining accumulated debt as it matures. Alberta's overall tax regime is very competitive. Significant cuts in corporate and personal tax rates have been made over the past several years. Alberta businesses also benefit from not having to pay corporate capital taxes, payroll taxes or sales taxes on business inputs as part of our low rate, broad-based tax regime. In the last year, Economic Development also championed the elimination of the aviation fuel tax on all international flights and, today, continues to support further reductions in the corporate income tax rate as affordable.

IMPORTANCE OF INNOVATION

As a number of Albertans pointed out in their response to the "It's Your Future" survey, building a diverse, innovative economy is an important priority for the province. In an increasingly global economy, innovation is key to keeping ahead of our competitors and developing new markets, products and services. Alberta cannot simply compete as a low cost business location. A competitive business-cost environment is necessary, but not sufficient for creating globally competitive industries.

Alberta's economic success needs to be judged not only by traditional economic indicators, such as GDP and employment, but also by indicators of knowledge creation and innovation. This is because innovation – through investments in research and development, human capital, and machinery and equipment – leads to higher levels of productivity and an improved standard of living.

Innovation is essential in all sectors of the economy and a knowledge-based approach does not mean abandoning Alberta's traditional strengths. It means building more value into our traditional goods and services in order to achieve greater returns in the international export market. It is what has driven the development and growth of the oil sands industry in Alberta to become the leading new energy source in North America. Innovation has also been the driver of much of the growth and expansion of the forest products industry, and the development of new functional foods and products in the agrifood industry.

SKILLED LABOUR SHORTAGES

Another major challenge for Alberta is to ensure there are enough skilled workers to meet industry demand. Labour shortages can potentially be a major impediment to the province reaching its full economic potential. Alberta Economic Development has actively supported the provincial labour strategy, Prepared for Growth: Building Alberta's Labour Supply, which identifies the following three key directions: increase the skill and knowledge levels of Albertans; increase the mobility of labour in Canada; and increase the number of immigrants to Alberta.

BENCHMARKING ALBERTA'S PERFORMANCE

In a global marketplace, we must compare ourselves with the leading global economies. Benchmarking has been done by Economic Development comparing Alberta with the best in Canada, the United States and Europe. Comparison jurisdictions were chosen on the basis of their strong relative economic and innovation performance, and size and structural similarities with Alberta. Indicators were selected on the basis of their widespread use in other credible benchmarking exercises, their relevance to economic performance and innovation, and levels of data quality and availability.

By most economic indicators, Alberta has been Canada's top performer. Even within a broader context, including some of the strongest U.S. and European performers, Alberta has been an above average performer as shown in Chart 1. However, as shown in Chart 2, Alberta's innovation performance lags behind its U.S. and European competitors, as well as other provinces.

Chart 1: Economy has performed well

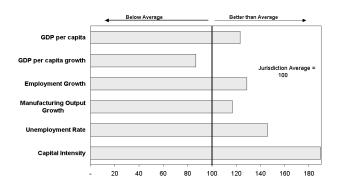

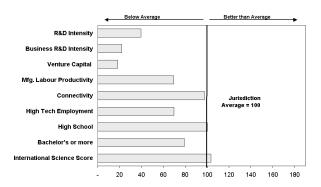

Chart 2: Innovation - more work to do ...

In Today's Opportunities, Tomorrow's Promise: A Strategic Plan for the Government of Alberta, part of the government's vision is that Alberta in 2025 will be a place where:

The economy shifts toward a knowledge-based approach, with research, technology development and value-added products having a much larger part in the province's prosperity.

In order to achieve this, the government will need to aggressively pursue the directions set out in the province's value-added strategy – Securing Tomorrow's Prosperity.

This business plan recognizes the risks and opportunities that Alberta is currently facing and outlines the goals and strategies that will mitigate the risks and capitalize on opportunities.

STRATEGIC PRIORITIES 2005-08

Through the Ministry's review of external and internal challenges, the strategic priorities described below have been identified. These are in addition to the important ongoing core activities of the Ministry.

1. Economic Development and Innovation Initiative

Linkage: Goal 1

Economic Development provides leadership and intelligence to strengthen Alberta's economy, an economy capable of constantly innovating and creating higher value jobs, goods and services that will sustain our prosperity and quality of life. The Economic Development and Innovation Initiative provides a framework to build upon existing government strategies such as the Agriculture Growth Strategy and Agriculture Research and Innovation Strategy (Agriculture, Food and Rural Development), the Life Sciences Strategy and Energy Research Strategy (Innovation and Science), Prepared for Growth: Building Alberta's Labour Supply (Human Resources and Employment) and Securing Tomorrow's Prosperity (Economic Development).

The Economic Development and Innovation Initiative is championed with Agriculture, Food and Rural Development and Innovation and Science. Economic Development also participates in the Aboriginal Policy and Alberta Children and Youth Initiatives, and is a co-champion for the Leading in Learning and Skilled Workforce Initiative.

The following are two key components of the Economic Development and Innovation Initiative

Linkage: Goal 1, 3 and 4

SECURING TOMORROW'S PROSPERITY

Economic Development leads the value-added strategy, Securing Tomorrow's Prosperity, as a major part of the Economic Development and Innovation Initiative. The strategy is market driven and focused on four strategic directions, which include: enhancing Alberta's current competitive advantages; building Alberta's innovation system; growing and strengthening small and medium-sized enterprises; and focusing on priority value-added sectors. The strategy will serve to accelerate Alberta's continued transition to a broader, more diverse, innovative, knowledge-based and globally competitive economy.

Economic Development utilizes a sector team approach to promote export trade, investment, and industry development and to work closely with industry clients, associations and other agencies. We identify and address issues affecting sector markets, competitiveness and productivity in order to develop key industry growth strategies.

Linkage: Goal 6, 7 and 8

RURAL AND REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Rural Development Strategy, led by Agriculture, Food and Rural Development with support from Economic Development, is a comprehensive approach to building a rural Alberta comprised of vibrant and sustainable communities including Aboriginal communities. Economic Development's support for Regional Economic Development Alliances will be a key component of the Rural Development Strategy.

2. Tourism

Linkage: Goals 7 and 8 Starting April 1, 2005, the 5 per cent Hotel Room Tax is replaced by a 4 per cent Tourism Levy. The levy funds tourism marketing and development. The funds are used to support tourism marketing and encourage the growth and expansion of marketable tourism products. Economic Development facilitates the development and improvement of both private and public sector tourism products and assets in Alberta. Marketing priorities are established in the Strategic Tourism Marketing Council's three-year Strategic Tourism Marketing Plan and Travel Alberta's marketing activities.

Tourism marketing is managed through a framework that promotes Alberta as a "must see" destination for international visitors, domestic visitors and Albertans and leverages the impact and exposure offered by films produced in Alberta. The 2005 Alberta Centennial provides an opportunity to focus advertising to increase travel in the province by Albertans, and national and international visitors.

3. International Marketing and Representation

Linkage: Goal 5

The Ministry works to expand Alberta's economy by taking advantage of the many international opportunities for Alberta goods and services. Our international marketing efforts seek to provide accurate information to our clients, within the appropriate timeframe, to assist them in making trade and investment decisions in response to international market opportunities. Economic Development strives to effectively integrate Alberta's business practices and policies with international business cultures.

In consultation with other ministries, Economic Development has prepared Alberta's International Marketing Strategy, 2005, which articulates sector opportunities and geographic markets, and sets out the government strategy to refine our international trade development and investment attraction activities.

Alberta's international offices serve clients in Alberta and in those international markets where they are located. The international offices' network supports Economic Development's three core businesses and their success contributes to the growth of Alberta's economy, the creation of new jobs for Albertans, and the promotion of the province as the best place to live, visit and do business.
