Labour Force Participation Rates by Sex, Alberta

- The labour force participation rate is the number of labour force participants expressed as a percentage of the population 15 years of age and over. The participation rate for a particular group (age, sex, marital status, etc.) is the number of labour force participants in that group expressed as a percentage of the population for that group.
- In 2014, more working age Albertans were participating in the workforce compared to their Canadian counterparts. Alberta's participation rates¹ were higher than the national averages for both males and females.
- Alberta's male labour force participation rate of 79.0% was higher than the female rate of 66.2% in 2014.
- For young Albertans, those between 15 and 24 years of age, the participation rate for males was 70.2%, compared to the female rate of 64.5% in 2014.

¹ Some of the historical rates for the period between 2001 and 2014 have been revised to incorporate the latest postcensal population estimates.
