Public Accounts 2002-03

The Public Accounts of Alberta are prepared in accordance with the Financial Administration Act and the Government Accountability Act. The Public Accounts consist of the annual report of the Government of Alberta and the annual reports of each of the 24 ministries.

The annual report of the Government of Alberta, released June 24, 2003, contains the Minister of Finance's accountability statement, the consolidated financial statements of the Province and a comparison of the actual performance results to desired results set out in the government's business plan, including the Measuring Up report.

This annual report of the Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development (AAND) contains the Minister's accountability statement, the audited financial statements of the Ministry and a comparison of actual performance results to desired results set out in the Ministry business plan. This Ministry annual report also includes other financial information as required by the Financial Administration Act and Government Accountability Act, either as separate reports or as a part of the financial statements, to the extent that the Ministry has anything to report.

Minister's Accountability Statement

The Ministry's Annual Report for the year ended March 31, 2003, was prepared under my direction in accordance with the Government Accountability Act and the government's accounting policies. All of the government's policy decisions as at August 27, 2003 with material economic or fiscal implications of which I am aware have been considered in the preparation of this report.

Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development

Message from Minister Calahasen

I am pleased to introduce Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development's second annual report. This report demonstrates our ongoing efforts and successes in advancing Aboriginal well-being and self-reliance through the principles and commitments of Alberta's Aboriginal Policy Framework, Aboriginal Policy Initiative and Ministry business plan.

AAND is working with all ministries to strengthen the province's relationships with Aboriginal governments, organizations and communities. In addition, we participate in a variety of interprovincial and national initiatives, such as the creation of the National Aboriginal Organization Youth Advisory Committee, that bring together partners to advance the well-being of First Nations, Metis and Inuit people.

In the past year, AAND addressed socioeconomic opportunities for Aboriginal people by continuing to link with partners to provide training, employment, and entrepreneurship opportunities. The Ministry also supported capacity-building projects intended to help Aboriginal communities to set their own priorities, develop a sustainable economic base and participate effectively in partnerships with government and the private sector.

Our focus is on partnership and co-operation that ultimately benefits all parties working to address Aboriginal concerns. This past year's Piikani settlement is an example of what can be achieved when everyone works together.

The Ministry and the Northern Alberta Development Council co-operate to advance economic opportunities in various sectors including tourism, value-added agriculture and forestry, recycling, and water conservation. Raising awareness of northern opportunities and priorities will continue, including efforts to secure more infrastructure improvements and benefits from development of northern resources.

We continue to be committed to seeing Aboriginal people and Northerners recognized as leading contributors to and active participants in the Alberta Advantage. Partnerships are developing, relationships are being strengthened, and it's an honour to be part of these efforts.

Management's Responsibility for Reporting

The Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development includes the Department of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development and the Northern Alberta Development Council. The Metis Settlements Appeal Tribunal reports to the Minister.

The executives of the individual entities within the Ministry have the primary responsibility and accountability for the respective entities. Collectively, the executives ensure the Ministry complies with all relevant legislation, regulations and policies.

Ministry business plans, annual reports, performance results and the supporting management information are integral to the government's fiscal and business plans, annual report, quarterly reports and other financial and performance reporting.

Responsibility for the integrity and objectivity of the financial statements and performance results for the Ministry rests with the Minister of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development. Under the direction of the Minister, I oversee the preparation of the Ministry's annual report, including financial statements and performance results. The financial statements and the performance results, of necessity, include amounts that are based on estimates and judgments. The financial statements are prepared in accordance with the government's stated accounting policies.

As Deputy Minister, in addition to program responsibilities, I establish and maintain the Ministry's financial administration and reporting functions. The Ministry maintains systems of financial management and internal control, which give consideration to costs, benefits, and risks that are designed to:

- provide reasonable assurance that transactions are properly authorized, executed in accordance with prescribed legislation and regulations, and properly recorded so as to maintain accountability of public money;
- provide information to manage and report on performance;
- safeguard the assets and properties of the Province under ministry administration;
- provide Executive Council, Treasury Board, the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development any information needed to fulfill their responsibilities; and
- facilitate preparation of ministry business plans and annual reports required under the Government Accountability Act.

In fulfilling my responsibilities for the Ministry, I have relied, as necessary, on the executive of the individual entities within the Ministry.

Operational Overview

Mission

The mission of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development is to:

- raise awareness of Aboriginal and Northern perspectives and issues,
 - promote government-wide strategies,
 - provide specific initiatives to improve the well-being and self-reliance of Aboriginal people and Northern Albertans, and
 - advance the development of Aboriginal communities and Northern Alberta.

Core Businesses

The Ministry has two core businesses: Aboriginal Relations and Northern Development. Key services provided by the Ministry are to:

- promote and facilitate effective relations between the Province and First Nations and Metis Settlement governments, First Nation and Metis organizations, businesses and people, as well as with northern Alberta municipalities and people,
 - manage the Province's legal and constitutional obligations with respect to First Nations, Metis and other Aboriginal people,
 - assist the ongoing development of accountable, self-administering, self-regulating, and self-reliant Metis Settlement governments, and
 - promote and coordinate the economic and social development of Aboriginal and northern communities.

Role of the Ministry

AAND is not a program ministry. Instead it serves as a catalyst, coordinator and facilitator in developing and implementing Aboriginal policies, programs and services across government. AAND relies on the active support of other ministries and agencies in addressing Aboriginal issues. AAND also communicates government programs and policies to Aboriginal people, industry and other interested parties.

Key Factors that Influenced Performance

During 2002-03, AAND's profile continued to increase with other ministries, industry and local governments. The Ministry's involvement with Aboriginal governments, communities and organizations is also increasing, especially in the area of First Nations and self-government negotiations. AAND is also involved in substantial discussions with Metis Settlements with respect to legislative changes prior to 2007.

AAND has become increasingly engaged in other cross-ministry initiatives as well as assisting other ministries to undertake appropriate discussions with Aboriginal communities on a wide variety of issues. These discussions ranged from a province-wide water strategy to negotiations with specific communities on child welfare issues.

AAND is also increasingly engaged in a growing number of court cases concerning the assertion of Aboriginal rights.

Key Activities

Alberta AAND was involved in numerous activities during 2002-03, which are described further in the Results Analysis section of this report. The following information outlines activities, improvements, and major consultation processes that took place during the year.

➤ ABORIGINAL POLICY FRAMEWORK

Fulfilling the commitments to action documented in Strengthening Relationships: The Government of Alberta's Aboriginal Policy Framework (APF) drives many of AAND's business goals and strategies. The APF provides the structure for existing and new government policies to address Aboriginal issues. It provides a blueprint for working with Aboriginal people and enables AAND to facilitate Aboriginal input into strategies being developed by other provincial ministries, such as Alberta Health and Wellness, Learning, and Human Resources and Employment. (Examples include the Alberta Tobacco Reduction Strategy and expansion of diabetes-screening programs to Metis Settlements; the Alberta Aboriginal Apprenticeship Program and Aboriginal Data Collection Initiative; and the First Nations Trades Training Program and Defining the Path: Alberta Human Resources & Employment Aboriginal Strategy.)

AAND's accomplishments in 2002-03 toward implementation of APF commitments to action included economic and social initiatives, capacity-building, and consultation. AAND assisted in developing new and redesigned programs directed toward serving the needs of Aboriginal people in Alberta. The Ministry is currently involved in developing data-sharing agreements to enable the Government of Alberta to begin incorporating traditional use data into provincial land use planning and administration processes.

► INCREASING CULTURAL AWARENESS

AAND continued to work to improve relations between Alberta ministries and Aboriginal people and to raise awareness and inclusiveness of Aboriginal people among the Alberta public. AAND coordinated provincial government participation in the Alberta Chiefs' Summit process and in the Treaty 6, 7 and 8 Elders' Conference (held at Wabasca in August 2002). The Ministry assisted in facilitating Aboriginal input into other provincial government strategies (e.g., Water for Life, Alberta's draft strategy for sustainability).

September 2002 marked the 125th Anniversary of the signing of Treaty 7. AAND coordinated provincial support for and participation in the Commemoration Event held at Blackfoot Crossing on the Siksika Reserve. The Ministry also participated in Alexander First Nation's 125th anniversary of its adhesion to Treaty 6.

AAND participated in signing ceremonies to mark settlements of the Cold Lake and Alexander First Nations Specific Claims, and other ceremonies and celebrations throughout the year, including Metis Week cultural events. The Ministry participated in National Aboriginal Day activities—held throughout Alberta from June 17-21, 2002. AAND worked with Alberta Community Development and the Indigenous Sports Council of Alberta to support the Alberta team's attendance at the 2002 North American Indigenous Games held in Winnipeg from July 29 to August 4, 2002.

► ESTABLISHMENT OF THE OFFICE OF THE METIS SETTLEMENTS OMBUDSMAN

A key focus for the Ministry during 2002-03 was establishment of the Office of the Metis Settlements Ombudsman on April 1, 2003. Ministerial authority pursuant to the Metis Settlements Act was delegated to this office. Processes and protocols were developed for assessing and investigating complaints. The new Office of the Metis Settlements Ombudsman (MSO) is another step toward accountable, self-regulating Metis Settlements government.

➤ RESOLUTION OF LAND AND OTHER CLAIMS

During 2002-03, AAND continued its work to settle land claims in a manner that promotes certainty and is fair and equitable to all parties. In 2002, the Piikani/Canada/Alberta Settlement Agreement was fully executed by all parties. The settlement agreement supports Piikani initiatives and the continued development of positive relationships among the parties; puts to rest some long-standing issues between the parties; and provides economic opportunities for the Piikani Nation.

➤ OPPORTUNITY NORTH

The Northern Alberta Development Council (NADC) created a new Website and other materials to recruit staff to Northern Alberta. The new site—www.opportunitynorth.ca—features information on careers, communities and lifestyles, and insight into what it's like to live and work in Alberta's North.

➤ ALBERTA-NORTHWEST TERRITORIES MOU

Co-Chairs of the Alberta-Northwest Territories Memorandum of Understanding for Co-operation and Development adopted a three-year implementation plan. The MOU provides a framework for Alberta and the NWT to co-operate on development in such areas as transportation, tourism, education, economic development and trade.

➤ IMPROVING OPERATIONS, ACCOUNTABILITY AND RESPONSIVENESS

Ministry human resources plan: During 2002-03, AAND continued development and implementation of a Ministry human resource (HR) plan that reflects all Corporate Human Resource Plan priorities. The Ministry's HR plan complements the overall Government of Alberta Human Resource Development Strategy, a key cross-ministry administrative initiative.

Business planning: During 2002-03, AAND developed a more focused approach to business planning that included involvement of all staff in examining current and potential roles and responsibilities. Business plan drafts were shared at two all-staff meetings. A meeting of Aboriginal and industry stakeholders also provided input. AAND's 2002-05 business plan formed the foundation for operational and individual performance planning. AAND's staff rated their involvement in business planning significantly higher than the average for other ministries. Corporate Employee Survey results indicate that 70% of AAND staff agreed that the Ministry helps them understand how their work contributes to achievement of the Ministry's business plan goals (the Government average is 57%).

Records management: AAND continued reviewing its records management procedures. The Strategic Services section's files were converted to comply with the government-wide records management program. Conversion of Aboriginal Initiative's files will continue in 2003-04.

Integration of the Metis Settlements Land Registry: Upon dissolution of the Metis Settlements Transition Commission on March 31, 2002, AAND became directly responsible for administration of the Metis Settlements Land Registry. The Land Registry is now part of the Ministry's Aboriginal Initiatives section. It is responsible for registration of interests in Metis Settlement lands and maintenance of Settlement membership lists.

Consultative Processes

- DRAFT PROVINCIAL WATER STRATEGY (Water for Life)

AAND organized a focus group for First Nations and Metis representatives to gather Aboriginal views for development of a draft provincial water strategy. AAND also created opportunities for Aboriginal participation in a forum convened by the Minister of Environment to validate findings from stakeholder consultations.
- NORTHERN EAST SLOPES SUSTAINABLE RESOURCE AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT STRATEGY

AAND coordinated Aboriginal input into development of a sustainable resource and environmental management strategy for the Northern East Slopes Region. During 2002-03, AAND organized a two-day workshop with all participating Aboriginal communities. As a result, an Aboriginal chapter will be included in recommendations to the Minister of Environment in 2003-04.
- HUMAN REMAINS STRATEGY

AAND is leading a cross-ministry initiative to develop a province-wide notification framework and protocol for unregistered human remains. During 2002-03, AAND and Alberta Community Development consulted with Aboriginal stakeholders as part of province-wide discussions on potential changes to the Cemeteries Act.

➤ CHILD WELFARE ACT

AAND provided advice to Children's Services regarding approaches to secure the input of First Nations, First Nation agencies and Metis organizations into the design of regulations, policies and standards being developed to prepare for implementation of amendments to the Child Welfare Act.

➤ ALBERTA CHILDREN AND YOUTH INITIATIVE

Partnering ministries have been working together on the development of an Aboriginal Youth Suicide Prevention Strategy.

➤ FRIENDSHIP CENTRES

In 2002-03, the Minister of AAND continued discussions with community members at Friendship Centres across the province on the next steps for implementation of the APF.

Report of the Auditor General on the Results of Applying Specified Auditing Procedures to Performance Measures

To the Members of the Legislative Assembly

In connection with the Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development's performance measures included in the 2002-2003 Annual Report of the Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development, I have:

1. Agreed information from an external organization to reports from the organization, or where information is reported as not available, confirmed that this information is not available.
2. Agreed information from reports that originated within the Ministry to source reports. In addition, I tested the procedures used to compile the underlying data into the source reports.
3. Checked that the presentation of results is consistent with the stated methodology.
4. Checked that the results presented are comparable to stated targets, and information presented in prior years.
5. Checked that the performance measures, as well as targets, agree to and include results for all of the measures presented in Budget 2002.

As a result of applying the above procedures, I found no exceptions. These procedures, however, do not constitute an audit and therefore I express no opinion on the performance measures included in the 2002-2003 Annual Report of the Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development.

Results Analysis

Expense by Core Business

The Ministry's 2002-03 expenses by core business (thousands of dollars) are outlined in the table below.

	Comparable 2002-03 Budget	Comparable 2002-03 Actual	Comparable 2001-02 Actual
Aboriginal Affairs	$ 28,228	61,798	29,200
Northern Development	$ 1,954	1,953	1,829
Ministry Expenses	$ 30,182	63,751	31,029

Financial Results

The Ministry's financial performance was within budget. In addition to the Ministry's annual appropriation for 2002-03, authority for certain unbudgeted expenditures was obtained by way of Supplementary Estimate:

- A Supplementary Estimate of $32,150,000 was approved to provide for payments required under the July 16, 2002 settlement agreement with the Piikani Nation. An initial payment of $17,000,000 was made during 2002-03, with the balance of $15,150,000 to be paid over the next six years. The Piikani settlement marks the successful culmination of several years of negotiation and effectively resolves a number of water resource issues, including the impact of the Oldman River Dam on the community.
- A Supplementary Estimate of $1,400,000 was approved to provide $1,000,000 for start-up costs required for the implementation of the Aboriginal Consultation Initiative and $400,000 for costs related to negotiations with the Siksika Nation. The Aboriginal Consultation Initiative involves seven ministries and will commence in 2003-04.

In 2002-03, the Ministry entered into a three-year Memorandum of Understanding with the Athabasca Tribal Council. The Memorandum provides for provincial participation with the Athabasca Tribal Council and industry in a process to address issues and opportunities related to resource development in the Fort McMurray area. Under the Memorandum, the Ministry provided the Athabasca Tribal Council with $400,000 in 2002-03 and will provide $250,000 in 2003-04 and 2004-05, with the Ministry of Energy contributing $50,000, in each of the three fiscal years, towards these costs. All costs are being absorbed within existing Ministry budgets.

Goal 1: Aboriginal Policy Framework

► INTRODUCTION

Strengthening Relationships: The Government of Alberta's Aboriginal Policy Framework (APF), outlines government policy and guides Alberta's relations with Aboriginal people. The APF applies across all Alberta ministries and commits the Government of Alberta to working with Aboriginal people, other governments, industry, and other interested parties toward two goals:

- 1) individual and community well-being and self-reliance and
- 2) clarification of federal, provincial, and Aboriginal roles and responsibilities.

AAND leads implementation of the APF; however, its 44 commitments to action require partnerships between provincial ministries, the Aboriginal community, other governments, and industry. AAND's accomplishments in 2002-03 toward implementation of APF commitments to action include economic and social initiatives, capacity-building, and consultation.

Economic opportunities: In 2002-03, AAND worked with partners to provide training, employment, and entrepreneurship opportunities for Aboriginal people. The Ministry worked with Alberta Human Resources and Employment (AHRE) to design the First Nations Training to Employment Partnerships Program (FNTEPP). The program is intended to address skill shortages and provide employment for First Nations people. Both ministries also contributed to development of the First Nations Trades Training Project, a project within the FNTEPP.

AAND contributed to AHRE's publication for employers, Diversity: A strategy to meet your need for skilled workers. This publication fulfilled an objective of Prepared for Growth, the Province's labour force strategy, to develop an information resource that encourages employers to hire from non-traditional sources. Diversity also helps employers prepare to manage a diverse workforce.

To lead or support the implementation of commitments to action in the Aboriginal Policy Framework.

AAND worked with the Metis Nation of Alberta Association (MNAA) Zone 1 to develop a Strategic Economic Development Initiative for the region. This capacity-building initiative is intended to help Metis communities in northeastern Alberta improve their abilities to partner with industry and increase access to economic opportunities.

As part of the Sturgeon Lake Cree Nation Partnership Project, AAND assisted with development of a process for the First Nation to take advantage of existing Memoranda of Understanding with industry. The Ministry also provided financial support to the Community Liaison Offices on Economic and Employment Promotion Programs (CLOEPP) in Calling Lake and Wabasca. The offices facilitate partnerships toward community-based economic development.

AAND also provided financial support to the Canadian Executive Service Organization (CESO) for business development services to Metis entrepreneurs.

Consultation initiative: The APF identifies the need for a “proactive, made-in-Alberta consultation process.” During 2002-03, AAND led a cross-ministry process to address the APF commitment to develop appropriate consultation processes. In addition, funding was secured for seven Alberta ministries to develop a province-wide consultation strategy. The Aboriginal Consultation Initiative will be implemented during 2003-04.

The APF commits the government to working with First Nations and industry to facilitate development of best practice guidelines for studies of public lands. Publication of the Best Practices Handbook for Traditional Use Studies was the result of over a year of collaboration between AAND and Alberta Energy, Aboriginal communities and Elders, the federal government, and industry. The Handbook is available upon request from the Ministry and is posted on the Ministry's website.

Government provided technical advice and financial support to eight First Nations toward completion of traditional use studies (Athabasca Chipewyan, Bigstone Cree Nation, Blood Tribe, Dene Tha', Driftpile, Sucker Creek, Sunchild and Swan River).

Aboriginal Policy Initiative: The Aboriginal Policy Initiative (API)—one of four cross-ministry priority policy initiatives—provides a mechanism for cross-ministry coordination to address APF commitments to action. AAND continued to lead this initiative, with support from co-champion ministries, Alberta Justice and Alberta Children's Services. API results for 2002-03 are reported in the section on Performance Measures for Goal 1.

Capacity-building: AAND supports capacity-building projects with Aboriginal communities and organizations, industry, and other partners. The long-term objective of these projects is to provide a lasting set of tools to better equip people for life's challenges and opportunities.

During 2002-03, the Ministry worked with the Aboriginal Women's Society of Edmonton to develop and implement an organizational plan and growth strategy. AAND assisted the Aseniwuche Winewak Nation (AWN) to establish a new governance system and hold its first election for a full board of directors. The Ministry also assisted AWN with completing a demographic profile of Aboriginal co-operatives and enterprises in the Grande Cache area. The Ministry's capacity-building work with Friendship Centres is reported under Goal 2.

Urban issues: The Aboriginal population continues to increase in Alberta's major cities. AAND is working with the federal and municipal governments, other provincial ministries, the Aboriginal community and other stakeholders to identify and address issues affecting urban Aboriginal people in Edmonton. In 2002-03, AAND supported a pilot project aimed at incorporating Aboriginal content into high-school curricula.

As a participating provincial department under the Western Economic Partnership Agreement (WEPA), AAND continued to support the Calgary Urban Aboriginal Initiative. This initiative is intended to improve access to and delivery of programs for Aboriginal people living in Calgary.

AAND coordinated Government of Alberta input into the Canada West Foundation Urban Aboriginal Research Project. The project published Volumes III and IV of its report series, Urban Aboriginal People in Western Canada: Realities and Policies. The results of this research will be used to develop future policy and program directions.

Social initiatives: AAND assists other Alberta ministries and agencies in developing programs and initiatives to address social issues in Aboriginal communities. During 2002-03, the Ministry assisted Alberta Children's Services and the Metis Nation of Alberta Association to develop and implement a Fetal Alcohol Syndrome prevention program for Metis people.

The Ministry provided advice and assistance to Alberta Learning toward development and implementation of a literacy strategy aimed at both parents and children. The Ministry participated in a national suicide prevention coalition including federal, provincial, First Nations, and Metis representatives. AAND is now working with other ministries to address issues related to Aboriginal youth suicide.

► CONCLUSIONS AND CHALLENGES FOR GOAL 1

Through its activities to address the commitments to action in the APF, AAND assisted in developing new and redesigned programs directed toward serving the needs of Aboriginal people in Alberta. The Ministry prepared a report to the API Deputy Ministers' Steering Committee on its capacity-building pilot projects. The Ministry is currently involved in developing data-sharing agreements to enable the Government of Alberta to begin incorporating traditional use data into provincial land use planning and administration processes.

► PERFORMANCE MEASURES FOR GOAL 1

The Ministry's performance measures for Goal 1 are intended to assess the Government of Alberta's progress toward implementation of the APF. The long-term measures associated with Government Business Plan Goal 6 address the gap in well-being and self-reliance of Aboriginal people compared with other Albertans.

Report on the cross-ministry Aboriginal Policy Initiative targets for 2002-03:

Annual targets for the cross-ministry Aboriginal Policy Initiative are developed by the Interdepartmental API Committee under the direction of the API steering committee consisting of eleven Deputy Ministers. The information presented on pages 25-29 was prepared for publication in Measuring Up, the Government of Alberta's annual report. It was based on information submitted to AAND by the ministries/agencies responsible for the various targets. AAND compiled the information to fit the format specified by Alberta Finance. The draft report was reviewed by the responsible ministries before publication in Measuring Up.

The API provides the Alberta government with internal mechanisms to address the commitments in the Aboriginal Policy Framework (APF). The API supports Government Business Plan Goal 6 and related strategies. During the first two years of the API (2000-02), the focus was on approval of the APF and development of key objectives and long-term (10-year) targets.

In this third year of the API (2002-03), more consistent and focused strategies have been further developed across relevant government ministries, with increasing emphasis on partnerships to address Aboriginal issues.

The four API objectives for 2002-03 are outlined on pages 26-29, with targets and results achieved for the year. Other noteworthy accomplishments that supported the API include:

- development of an Aboriginal tobacco framework as part of the Provincial Tobacco Reduction Strategy,
- initiation of the "Family Friend" home care project in the four eastern Metis Settlements,
- Aboriginal awareness training for 350 Alberta Mental Health Board staff,
- Government of Alberta support for, and participation in, the Treaty 7 125th Anniversary Commemoration,
- completion of the First Nations, Métis and Inuit Education Policy Framework,
- development of a Grade 10 social studies curriculum that includes Aboriginal justice,
- partnerships between Aboriginal communities, organizations and industry (more than 50 such partnerships exist in Alberta),
- introduction of the First Nations Training to Employment Partnerships Program, intended to address skill shortages and provide employment training for First Nations people, and
- development of Diversity: A strategy to meet your need for skilled workers (this publication for employers includes the Aboriginal workforce).

Goal 6, Government Business Plan, long-term measures, 2000-2010:

This goal is intended to address socioeconomic disparities that exist between Aboriginal people and other Albertans in life expectancy, employment, and education. Census data provides the best information available at a provincial level to measure improvements in these disparities. Data from the 2001 Canada Census is expected to be available late in 2003.

The four core measures associated with Government Business Plan Goal 6 are: employment rate, high-school completion, post-secondary completion and life expectancy.

Data on employment and educational attainment rates is from the 1991 and 1996 Canada Census, Custom 2B profiles, prepared by Statistics Canada for AAND.

“Aboriginal” includes all census respondents who identified their ethnic origin (1991) or ancestry (1996) as “North American Indian,” “Métis,” or “Inuit.” The employment rate is the employed population (aged 15 and over) divided by the total population, expressed as a percentage. Educational attainment data identifies the highest level of education completed. The percentages reported with “at least high-school completion” include anyone with high-school completion or a higher level of education (e.g., some post-secondary, post-secondary completion). The percentages reported with “post-secondary completion” include anyone with a trade certificate, post-secondary diploma or degree, and exclude those with some post-secondary education but no certificate, diploma or degree.

Data on life expectancy is published by the federal Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development (DIAND) and pertains to Registered Indians only. Life expectancy estimates the expected years of life for persons born in that year, assuming that age-specific mortality rates remain unchanged. DIAND estimates of life expectancy are based on observed age-specific mortality rates. Registered Indians are persons with status under the Indian Act, who are listed on the Indian Register maintained by DIAND.

Educational Attainment: The proportion of Alberta's Aboriginal population age 15 and over with at least high-school completion increased from 47.7% in 1991 to 52.2% in 1996, but remained below the rate for non-Aboriginal Albertans (data from the 2001 census are not yet available).

The proportion of Alberta's Aboriginal population age 15 and over with post-secondary completion increased from 22.2% in 1991 to 25% in 1996, but remained below the rate for non-Aboriginal Albertans (data from the 2001 census are not yet available).

Life Expectancy: The difference in life expectancy between Registered Indians and other Canadians is approximately seven years for males and five years for females.

Aboriginal strategies and initiatives are identified in 75% of Alberta ministry business plans. AAND acts as a facilitator for other Alberta ministries to address Aboriginal issues and develop relationships with Aboriginal communities. One indicator of the impact of AAND's activities is the number of Alberta ministries with Aboriginal strategies or initiatives identified in their business plans. AAND prepares a report that summarizes all Aboriginal-specific content in other ministry business plans. For the 2002-05 planning cycle, 20 of 24 Alberta ministries (83%) identified Aboriginal strategies or initiatives in their business plan. This result exceeded AAND's target of 75%.

Goal 2: Aboriginal Relations

To strengthen working relationships with Aboriginal governments, communities and organizations.

► INTRODUCTION

Alberta has diverse relationships with Aboriginal governments and organizations, including government-to-government relations with First Nations and Metis Settlements and administrative arrangements with Aboriginal organizations. In addition, Alberta participates in a variety of processes involving federal and provincial-territorial governments and national Aboriginal organizations. AAND strives to strengthen relationships with Aboriginal governments, organizations and communities.

Government-to-government relations: Enhancing relations with Alberta First Nations is a priority for AAND. During 2002-03, the Ministry engaged with numerous Alberta First Nations on a variety of issues (see also Goals 1 and 4). An agreement was reached with three First Nations to develop a partnership project. In March 2003, Alberta and the Athabasca Tribal Council (ATC) agreed on a process to establish effective working and consultative relationships, with a focus on resource development activities and opportunities. Discussions continue with eight First Nations toward economic and skills development partnership projects.

AAND coordinated provincial government participation in the Alberta Chiefs' Summit process and in the Treaty 6, 7 and 8 Elders' Conference (held at Wabasca in August 2002). The Ministry assisted in facilitating Aboriginal input into strategies being developed by other provincial ministries (e.g., Water for Life, Alberta's draft strategy for sustainability).

AAND also works on a government-to-government basis with Metis Settlements. Results for Metis Settlements are reported under Goal 3 (page 38).

Administrative arrangements with Aboriginal organizations:

Metis Nation of Alberta Association (MNAA): Under the terms of the Alberta/MNAA Framework Agreement signed in 1999, the Ministry provides the MNAA, including the six Regional Councils, with core funding. AAND participated with other provincial ministries in ongoing engagement with MNAA to facilitate effective participation by Metis people in developing and accessing provincial government policies, programs, initiatives, resources, and services. Framework Agreement activities during 2002-03 focused on housing, economic development, and a proposed Metis Cultural Heritage Interpretive Centre.

Friendship Centres: The Ministry has been working with the twenty Friendship Centres across Alberta to assist them in improving their governance and internal planning processes. During 2002-03, AAND conducted regional business plan and performance measures workshops for the Friendship Centres. Nineteen of the twenty centres submitted business plans to the Ministry, showing overall improvement in goals, strategies, and performance measures.

The Ministry also assisted the Alberta Native Friendship Centre Association (ANFCA) in initiating a review of its governance policies and processes. This review is directed toward helping the ANFCA to develop options for a new governance structure for board meetings and committees.

Federal/Provincial-Territorial/Aboriginal (FPTA) processes: The Ministry participates in a number of ongoing processes involving federal and provincial-territorial governments and provincial or national Aboriginal organizations. Ministry involvement in these processes aims to ensure that Aboriginal people in Alberta benefit from national-level initiatives. FPTA activities during 2002-03 included:

Alberta/Canada Partnership Forum: This forum was established in 2001-02 to provide an opportunity for the provincial government to work with the federal government and Alberta Aboriginal organizations (Treaties 6, 7 and 8; the Metis Settlements General Council; and the Metis Nation of Alberta Association) on practical projects to address issues of concern to all parties. During 2002-03, the forum produced a strategic overview and analysis of Aboriginal participation in the Alberta economy. Three subcommittees were established to examine possibilities for co-operation in the areas of education, training and employment, and implementation of SuperNet in Aboriginal communities.

FPTA Ongoing Process: This process involves the federal government, all provincial and territorial governments, and five national Aboriginal organizations. During 2002-03, the FPTA Ongoing Process established a national Aboriginal Youth Advisory Committee. AAND coordinates Alberta participation in this initiative to gather feedback on policy and program development and to raise issues of importance to Aboriginal youth. The Ministry also facilitated participation of Aboriginal entrepreneurs in a National Business Summit held in Toronto in February 2003 and a Western Business Summit held in Saskatoon in March 2003.

Western Ministers and Deputy Ministers Process: This process involves the four western provinces and three territories. It allows Ministers and Deputy Ministers to raise issues of common concern and develop collaborative approaches. Ministers and Deputies last met in Victoria in February 2003, and agreed to develop a coordinated approach to information-sharing on policies and programs.

Metis Nation of Alberta Association (MNA) and Metis Settlements Tripartite Processes: The Ministry provides technical support to the MNA Association Tripartite Process that coordinates activities between the MNA and the federal and provincial governments. Results during 2002-03 included participation in provincial and federal committees and councils; drafting of successful proposals to leverage project funding in areas such as tobacco use, diabetes programming and economic development, and mentoring inner-city Metis students. The Ministry also participates with Canada and the Metis Settlements General Council in the Metis Settlements of Alberta Tripartite Process. AAND will continue to participate in the process to develop future work plans.

Cross-cultural awareness: AAND promotes cross-cultural awareness to improve understanding and inclusiveness of Aboriginal people within the Alberta public, industry, and government. The Ministry also strives to improve dissemination of information about government.

September 2002 marked the 125th Anniversary of the signing of Treaty 7. AAND coordinated provincial support for and participation in the Commemoration Event held at Blackfoot Crossing on the Siksika Reserve.

AAND supported ceremonies and celebrations throughout the year, including Metis Week cultural events, a signing ceremony to mark settlement of the Cold Lake Specific Claim, and Alexander First Nation's celebration of the 125th anniversary of its adherence to Treaty 6. The Ministry supported National Aboriginal Day activities—held throughout Alberta from June 17-21, 2002. AAND also worked with Alberta Community Development and the Indigenous Sports Council of Alberta to secure funding for the Alberta team's attendance at the 2002 North American Indigenous Games held in Winnipeg from July 29 to August 4, 2002.

To enhance awareness and understanding, AAND produced publications intended for Aboriginal communities, government and other interested parties: the quarterly Guide to Aboriginal Organizations in Alberta, statistical publications and a new twice-yearly newsletter, Aboriginal Framework News. AAND developed a Traditional Values and Beliefs Workshop and a new Ministry website was launched during 2002-03.

The provincial government's Service Alberta website (www.servicealberta.ca) now includes an "Aboriginal service bundle" linked to all relevant provincial ministry websites. AAND also coordinated Alberta input into the federal Aboriginal "portal" (www.Aboriginalportal.com) that includes information on federal and provincial programming and links to national Aboriginal organizations.

AAND worked with Alberta Human Resources and Employment and Statistics Canada to implement a pilot project to collect off-reserve Aboriginal-specific data as part of the monthly Alberta Labour Force Survey. This project is intended to improve the government's baseline data on socioeconomic indicators for Aboriginal people in Alberta.

► CONCLUSIONS AND CHALLENGES FOR GOAL 2

AAND has continued to work to improve relations between Alberta ministries and Aboriginal people and to raise awareness and inclusiveness of Aboriginal people among the Alberta public. According to results from surveys of the Ministry's partners and stakeholders, one-third (34%) of partner respondents agreed ("strongly agree" or "agree") that over the past two years, relations between the Government of Alberta and Aboriginal people have improved. Forty-four percent (44%) of stakeholder respondents perceived relations between the Government of Alberta and Aboriginal people to have generally improved over the past two years.

► PERFORMANCE MEASURES FOR GOAL 2

AAND engaged an independent consultant to conduct surveys of the Ministry's partners and stakeholders. Telephone surveys were conducted between December 3 and December 17, 2002. Partners included senior officials from Alberta departments involved in development and delivery of the Aboriginal Policy Framework, the cross-ministry Aboriginal Policy Initiative, and other provincial programming directed toward Aboriginal people. Stakeholders included elected and appointed representatives from various Aboriginal organizations and officials from private corporations, industry, Aboriginal service groups, the federal government and select community organizations.

Other ministries report satisfaction in their relations with AAND and relationships with Aboriginal governments, communities, and organizations. The target for 2002-03 is 75%. A total of 58 partners participated in the survey. One-third (34%) of partners agree ("strongly agree" or "agree") that over the past two years, relations between the Government of Alberta and Aboriginal people have improved. This is a decline from 57% in 2001. The largest percentage of respondents in 2002 (45%) neither agreed nor disagreed with the statement. The increasing engagement across a broad range of issues has brought home to many ministries the difficult questions to be resolved. Finding solutions that satisfy often-conflicting and varied interests has been a challenge. This past year has also seen increased media attention on and internal government awareness of long-standing issues.

Perceptions of Relations Between Government and Aboriginal People

■ 2001 - 2002 (n=44)
 ■ 2002 - 2003 (n=47)

Nine out of ten partners surveyed (89%) agreed (“strongly agree” and “agree”) that AAND staff are responsive (see following pie charts). As well, more than three-quarters of respondents agreed that AAND staff work collaboratively (79%), have established effective working relationships (80%), and are flexible (82%). These results indicate that partner satisfaction with AAND staff improved over last year. (In 2001-02, partner responses were as follows: staff are responsive - 88%; staff work collaboratively - 78%; staff establish effective working relationships - 76%; and staff are flexible - 75%.)

Aboriginal governments and organizations report satisfaction in their relations with AAND and the Government of Alberta. The target for 2002-03 is 55%. A total of 58 stakeholders participated in the survey. Forty-four percent (44%) of stakeholders surveyed perceived relations between the Government of Alberta and Aboriginal people to have generally improved over the past two years. This is a decline from 53% in 2001. Perceptions of improving relations between the Government of Alberta and Aboriginal communities are stronger among stakeholders than in government.

The pie charts below indicate that two-thirds (67%) of stakeholder respondents agreed that AAND staff are responsive. Further, over half of respondents agreed that AAND staff work collaboratively (54%), are flexible (60%); and have effective working relationships (52%). "Responsiveness" and "collaboration" ratings decreased compared to last year (2001-02 results were 70% and 59%, respectively), while "flexible" and "effective working relationship" ratings increased (2001-02 results were 55% and 44%, respectively).

Goal 3: Metis Settlements

To assist in furthering accountable, self-administering, self-reliant, self-regulating Metis Settlement governments.

► INTRODUCTION

In November 1990, Alberta proclaimed legislation establishing a unique form of government on the Metis Settlements. The Metis Settlements legislation (Metis Settlements Act; Metis Settlements Land Protection Act; Constitution of Alberta Amendment Act, 1990; and Metis Settlements Accord Implementation Act) establishes the only Metis land base and the only legislated Metis government in Canada. The legislation establishes the statutory responsibilities and powers of both the government and the Metis Settlements governing institutions.

Each of the eight Metis Settlements is administered by a five-person Settlement Council, elected by the membership. Settlement Councils determine membership and land allocations and may also make settlement bylaws. The Metis Settlements General Council (MSGC) deals with matters that affect the collective interests of all eight Settlements. MSGC policies are binding on both the Council and all Metis Settlements. The MSGC consists of elected councillors from all eight Settlements and a four-person elected executive.

Governance: Accountable and effective governance structures are key to achieving the Ministry's goal. The Metis Settlements Transition Commission (MSTC) was an independent corporation established in 1990 to assist both the Metis Settlements and the Government of Alberta with implementing the Metis Settlements legislation. The mandate of the MSTC expired on March 31, 2002, with its responsibilities assumed by the MSGC and the Ministry.

Dissolution of the MSTC and transfer of business planning and performance measurement functions to the MSGC has enabled the General Council to take ownership of their planning processes relating to governance and administration. A Business Planning and Performance Measurement Agreement between the MSGC and the Ministry includes a capacity-building element to assist the Settlements in developing knowledge and skills to entrench these functions for the long term.

During 2002-03, the Ministry assumed administrative responsibility for the Metis Settlements Land Registry. The Minister also undertook a review and appointment process for the government appointees to the Metis Settlements Appeal Tribunal (MSAT), including the Chair.

AAND worked with MSGC to develop Terms of Reference for the Comprehensive Review Process. This process is a government-to-government initiative intended to establish a formal forum for discussion to address various Metis Settlement issues.

Financial and political accountability: The Metis Settlements legislation and associated agreements contain various mechanisms to ensure financial and administrative accountability, including approval of budgets by Settlement members, audit requirements and performance-related funding.

A key focus for the Ministry during 2002-03 was establishment of the Office of the Metis Settlements Ombudsman on April 1, 2003. Ministerial authority pursuant to the Metis Settlements Act was delegated to this office. Processes and protocols were developed for assessing and investigating complaints. The Office of the Metis Settlements Ombudsman is based on recommendations from the Task Force to Review the Mandate of the Metis Settlements Appeal Tribunal, 1999 (the Ducharme Report). The task force recommended an impartial, independent office to investigate complaints by Settlement members of unfair treatment and conflicts of interest on the part of Settlement councillors.

Over the next year, the Office of the Ombudsman will work with the Ministry, MSAT and MSGC to clarify roles, responsibilities, and reporting relationships between the entities involved in Metis Settlement governance.

Self-reliance: One principle of the Metis Settlements legislation is to encourage economic self-reliance. The Matching Grants Replacement Agreement (MGRA) between the Ministry and the MSGC sets out the respective contributions of Government and Settlements toward the costs of local government. The Ministry and MSGC completed an amendment to the MGRA during 2002-03, with reduced contributions from Government, which are to be offset by Metis Settlement self-generated revenues. The MSGC also assumed responsibility for assessing Settlement business plans and allocating performance-related funding.

➤ CONCLUSIONS AND CHALLENGES FOR GOAL 3

The new Office of the Metis Settlements Ombudsman (MSO) is another step toward accountable, self-regulating Metis Settlement government. The long-term goal of both the Ministry and the MSGC is self-governance, including MSAT and MSO.

The need to establish a forum for formal discussion (the Comprehensive Review Process) delayed complete implementation of the Ducharme Report. The Ministry expects to address remaining recommendations in partnership with the MSGC.

A key focus for the next year is amending the Metis Settlements legislation. The Ministry, in collaboration with MSGC, will draft legislative amendments intended to improve governance structures and empower the MSGC to plan effectively for post-2007.

► PERFORMANCE MEASURES FOR GOAL 3

The Ministry's performance measures for Goal 3 are intended to indicate the Metis Settlements' progress toward accountability, self-regulation, and self-reliance.

Increase the percentage of Metis Settlement self-generated revenues by 2%. This measure is intended to document the level of revenue generated by Settlements that could be used to support the cost of local governments, in preparation for the termination of the Matching Grants Replacement Agreement (MGRA). Under the terms of the MGRA signed in 1997 (and amended since then), the contributions by the Province to individual Settlement governments will continue to decline.

Based on information provided to the Ministry by the MSGC, a baseline of "self-generated" revenues can be calculated for the year ending March 31, 2002. The total amount of revenue generated by all eight Settlements from industrial taxation, user fees, and levies is $3,731,349.

This performance measure identified issues specific to data sources and collection, including the need for an agreed-upon process to track Settlement-generated revenues. There is also a need to consider possible future legislative, regulatory, or policy amendments to ensure access to this information by Settlement members and government, and standardization of data collection across the Settlements.

The Ministry will work with the Metis Settlements in the next year to improve data sources and clarify financial accountability protocols.

Metis Settlements General Council adoption of a revised administrative structure in preparation for the assumption of some Metis Settlements Transition Commission responsibilities. Dissolution of the Metis Settlements Transition Commission represents a major step in the evolution of Metis Settlements governance structures. This measure was intended to demonstrate progress toward the goal of self-administering, self-reliant, self-regulating Metis Settlement governments.

The MSGC assumed responsibility for business planning and performance-measurement functions during 2002-03 and is developing internal capacity in relation to these functions.

The Metis Settlements General Council and all Settlements have business plans with performance indicators. 2002-03 was the first year that the Metis Settlements assumed sole responsibility for developing their business plans with corresponding budgets. All Settlements are required to submit business plans, including performance indicators, to the MSGC. The MSGC has assumed responsibility for reviewing individual Settlement business plans and allocating performance-related funding based on the review. During 2002-03, seven Settlements submitted business plans to the MSGC. One Settlement failed to provide a business plan and did not receive its performance-related funding for the year.

Goal 4: Land Claims and Other Claims Involving the Province

► INTRODUCTION

Under the Natural Resources Transfer Agreement, Alberta received constitutional authority for the administration and control of Crown lands and resources. The Province also agreed to transfer unoccupied land and minerals to Canada as required to assist the federal government in meeting its treaty obligations for Indian reserves. Alberta is committed to fulfilling its constitutional obligations in this regard, and has done so in eleven treaty land entitlement settlements since 1986. These settlements have provided First Nations with resources to increase their participation in the Alberta economy.

In addition to land claims, Aboriginal people may make other claims concerning the Province. Alberta prefers negotiation to litigation and uses litigation as a last resort, in the event that negotiation and other avenues toward settlement are unsuccessful.

Land claims: AAND coordinates Alberta participation in land claims negotiations between Canada and First Nations to ensure that the obligations of the Province have been met. The number of claims resolved varies from year to year, as each claim typically involves a complex process requiring in-depth research, negotiations, and implementation that satisfies the interests of all parties.

During 2002-03, AAND was involved in negotiations on four active land claims. The Ministry reached an agreement-in-principle on the Fort McKay treaty land entitlement (TLE) claim. Negotiations continue on the Fort McMurray, Bigstone and Lubicon TLE claims.

With regard to implementation of claims, the Ministry drafted legal descriptions and initiated the transfer of Storm/Star lands under the Loon River Claim Settlement Agreement. The Ministry also drafted legal descriptions in preparation for the transfer of community lands.

To resolve land claims and other claims by Aboriginal people concerning the Province.

Other claims involving the Province: In December 2002, the Piikani/Canada/Alberta Settlement Agreement was fully executed by all parties. This agreement marked the successful culmination of several years of negotiations after Alberta signed a Protocol Agreement with the Piikani Nation (formerly Peigan Nation) in October 1998. The negotiations addressed Piikani concerns regarding access to water flowing through their community and the impact of the Oldman River Dam on the community.

The settlement agreement supports Piikani initiatives and the continued development of positive relationships among the parties; puts to rest some long-standing issues between the parties; and provides economic opportunities for the Piikani Nation, including some involving the Oldman River. Alberta has begun work on a follow-up Environmental Impact Assessment—committed to in the settlement agreement—on the impacts of the Oldman River Dam on the Oldman River Valley as it flows through the Piikani Nation. Government completed repairs to the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation Headworks and canal, as per the settlement agreement. The agreement also included the settlement of a costly and protracted litigation, and Alberta looks forward to an enhanced positive relationship with the Piikani Nation in the years to come.

Alberta, Canada and the Athabasca Chipewyan First Nation also reached an agreement in principle on an exchange of 33,000 acres of additional provincial Crown land as reserves for the First Nation in return for the surrender of an equal amount of existing reserve land. In this and other negotiations, AAND protects third-party interests by maintaining contact and addressing concerns. In this particular negotiation, the Ministry respected the interests of Metis trappers.

➤ CONCLUSIONS AND CHALLENGES FOR GOAL 4

During 2002-03, AAND continued its work to settle land claims in a manner that promotes certainty and is fair and equitable to all parties. For example, the Ministry facilitated settlement of the Cold Lake specific claim through the sale of 5,000 acres of provincial Crown land to the federal government at fair market value for setting aside as reserve land for the Cold Lake First Nation.

➤ PERFORMANCE MEASURES FOR GOAL 4

Performance measures have not been developed for land claims or other claims involving the Province, since the number of claims resolved is largely dependent on factors external to the Ministry. Interim progress on land claims negotiations cannot be reported, based on the need for negotiations to be kept confidential until agreement is reached.

Goal 5: Northern Development

► INTRODUCTION

In addition to Aboriginal Affairs, the Ministry mandate includes northern development. The Ministry participates in a number of ongoing processes involving federal and provincial-territorial governments, with a focus on northern issues. The Ministry also coordinates involvement in provincial strategy development to ensure northern issues receive prominence and the uniqueness of Northern Alberta is respected.

The Northern Alberta Development Council (NADC) is a council of and for northerners, that aims to advance northern social and economic development. The NADC works in partnership with the private sector, communities, economic development agencies, Aboriginal groups, and government ministries to help achieve AAND's northern goals. Communication with Northern Albertans is a high priority for the NADC, given the importance of northern development activity to the provincial economy.

Communication with Northern Albertans: The NADC's members represent all areas of Northern Alberta and have a strong commitment to advancing the North. The Council's engagement activities provide forums for Northern Albertans to express their views and address key opportunities and challenges. The Ministry and the NADC hold ongoing meetings with municipal governments, industry, Aboriginal communities, and other northern stakeholders.

During 2002-03, the NADC held key leaders meetings in Grande Prairie, St. Paul, Athabasca, and Fahler. A meeting was also convened for Northern Members of the Legislative Assembly. Planning continued for the 2003 Challenge North Conference.

Opportunities Seminars in St. Paul and High Prairie provided information on employment and partnership opportunities. Sixty delegates attended each function, which featured tradeshows as well as speakers from business, industry, government, and Aboriginal organizations.

While there has been tremendous growth in certain parts of Northern Alberta, other areas still lack basic services such as infrastructure, road connections, and effective access to education. A sustained focus on planned development will be required to balance rapid growth with socioenvironmental interests.

Economic diversification: The Ministry advanced economic opportunities in various sectors including tourism, value-added agriculture and forestry, recycling, and water conservation.

To establish priorities for northern opportunities, and increase awareness and support among government and key stakeholders for those priorities.

Tourism: The NADC coordinated the Deh Cho Travel Connection marketing strategy and brochure project to promote tourism for future economic development in Northern Alberta and the southern Northwest Territories (NWT). The Council participated on the planning committee for the Northern Alberta Tourism Research Centre and on the board of the Alberta North Tourism Destination Region. A focus for the future will be to increase the Aboriginal component of future Alberta tourism initiatives.

Value-Added Forestry and Agriculture: The Ministry participated in an interdepartmental initiative to monitor the impact of tariffs on softwood lumber exports to the United States. Work continued with the Alberta Beef Team to attract beef producers to the Peace Region and support enhancement of the northern bison industry. The Council's work with the Alberta New Crops network focused on research to identify specific crops (e.g., medicinal herbs) that would be successful in the North, and to develop global marketing strategies. The Council continued its leadership role with the Peace Value-Added Agriculture Group to investigate new agricultural diversification initiatives. The NADC also developed an outline for an agricultural land potential study in the High Level to Fort Nelson area. Ministry participation in the Sustainable Development Coordinating Committee maintains a northern focus on provincial value-added initiatives.

Recycling Initiatives and Water: The NADC provided technical support to Northern Coordinated Action for Recycling Enterprises (Northern CARE) for development of a business plan and communication strategy. As a result of recommendations from an NADC-sponsored water basin report, the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (PFRA) initiated groundwater assessments. During 2002-03, northern municipalities increased access to water-assistance programs. The Ministry also continues to work with Alberta Environment on river-basin planning and review of the draft provincial water strategy.

Recruitment and retention of labour: A major initiative during 2002-03 was the development and launch of the "Opportunity North" recruitment campaign—including a website (www.opportunitynorth.ca), an interactive CD-Rom, and brochures. The Opportunity North initiative is intended to assist northern employers to recruit staff to Northern Alberta. The campaign was announced at the Northern Focus Human Resources Management Conference, which was organized by the Ministry and held in Fort McMurray in October 2002.

Interjurisdictional initiatives: The Ministry plays a key role in advancing Northern Alberta's interests through interjurisdictional initiatives. During 2002-03, the Ministry represented Alberta in the Alberta-Northwest Territories Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) for Co-operation and Development. A three-year plan to implement the MOU was adopted along with strategies for co-operative action regarding tourism and education/skill development.

In September 2002, Alberta hosted a meeting of federal and provincial-territorial ministers responsible for northern development in Peace River. The Northern Development Ministers' Conference resulted in adoption of a three-year action plan and development of a Northern Awareness Enhancement Campaign.

The Minister of AAND represents Alberta and serves as North American vice-president of The Northern Forum, an international consortium representing 25 northern government jurisdictions.

The Ministry represents Alberta in discussions with British Columbia on northern issues of mutual concern; the Ministry is also beginning to collaborate with Saskatchewan on such issues.

➤ CONCLUSIONS AND CHALLENGES FOR GOAL 5

A draft communication strategy was developed to inform Northerners and other key stakeholders of the North's needs, interests and opportunities. Increased awareness of northern opportunities and priorities continues as a longer-term outcome, along with improved infrastructure and other benefits from development of northern resources.

➤ PERFORMANCE MEASURES FOR GOAL 5

AAND's performance measures for Goal 5 are intended to assess the effectiveness of the NADC's processes toward identifying northern opportunities and priorities, and increasing awareness and support among government and key stakeholders for those priorities.

Majority of delegates to the 2003 Challenge North Conference support the identified priorities. The NADC hosts a major conference every three years to gather input from northern stakeholders. The 2003 Challenge North Conference took place in Fort McMurray in April 2003. Results are not yet available and will be reported in AAND's 2003-04 annual report.

Participants in NADC processes state that these are an effective mechanism for input: achieve an average rating of 8 out of 10. Seventy-two participants at the Leaders' Roundtables were asked to submit evaluations; 51 were received. Of the participants who expressed an opinion of the effectiveness of the meeting for sharing information and informing the NADC of development issues and opportunities, the average rating was 8.4 out of 10, which exceeded the Ministry's target of 8 out of 10. The average rating for 2002 was 8.8.

NADC project partners and clients believe our project work promoted an opportunity or addressed a northern challenge: achieve an average rating of 8 out of 10. An independent consultant conducted a random telephone survey of 99 of 141 identified project partners.* The survey was conducted during May 2003, and covered fiscal year 2002-03. Results are reliable to within 5% at a 95% confidence interval.

Of the respondents who expressed an opinion, 96% believed the NADC's project work promoted an opportunity or addressed a barrier to northern development (2002 - 98%). Respondents were also asked to rate their level of satisfaction with NADC's "contribution to advancing northern interests" on a scale of 1 to 10 (1=very dissatisfied; 10=very satisfied). Ninety-five percent (95%) of respondents rated their satisfaction at 6 or higher (2002 - 92%). The average rating was 8.4 (2002 - 8.1), which exceeded the target of 8 out of 10.

Goal 6: Skill Development

To increase skill levels of Aboriginal and Northern Albertans.

► INTRODUCTION

Skill development is critical for sustaining economic development in Northern Alberta. The North is already experiencing skill shortages in a number of areas such as health care. Progress in relation to northern skill development is reported below. Skill development for Aboriginal people is a key component of the APF discussed under Goal 1.

NADC bursary programs: NADC bursary programs provide funding for Northern students to train in occupations where there are shortages of northern labour. As part of this program, students are required to return to the North to work upon completion of their education. The NADC provided 274 bursaries to northern students: 127 from the Bursary Program and 147 from the Bursary Partnerships Program (BPP). This is an increase from 257 bursaries provided in 2001-02 (114 from the Bursary Program and 143 from the BPP).

* One identified project partner refused to answer the survey; ten were out of town; eleven could not be reached due to out-of-date contact information; and twenty were not available (they did not answer or return calls after six attempts).

Northern information clearinghouse: Continued support is provided to the Northern Labour Market Information Clearinghouse—a joint initiative between the NADC and five northern Alberta colleges. The clearinghouse provides timely information on northern economic and employment trends and opportunities and training needs. During 2002-03, nine reports were completed on current employment trends and training needs in Northern Alberta.

Northern LINKS: The Ministry and the NADC continued their efforts to increase educational attainment among Aboriginal and Northern Albertans. Northern LINKS is a long-standing program aimed at easing the transition from high-school to post-secondary education. Sixty-six Northern LINKS projects were approved in 2002-03, including campus tours, career fairs, orientation sessions, and mentorship programs. Thirty-seven projects were directed toward Aboriginal students. Results from the Northern LINKS program are reported in the Performance Measures section (page 47-48).

Youth Apprenticeship Learning Opportunities Project: The NADC continues to promote and participate in the Youth Apprenticeship Learning Opportunities Project being coordinated by Alberta Learning. The goals of the project are to increase northern student awareness of possible career opportunities in the trades, while providing an opportunity for an earlier start to apprenticeship training.

➤ CONCLUSIONS AND CHALLENGES FOR GOAL 6

Increasing education levels among Aboriginal and Northern Albertans is a long-term focus for the Ministry. The NADC's programs are aimed at increasing students' financial capacity to access employment-related post-secondary training and at encouraging northern students to complete Grade 12.

➤ PERFORMANCE MEASURES FOR GOAL 6

Goal 6 performance measures are intended to assess the effectiveness of NADC bursary and Northern LINKS programs. These programs contribute to increased skill levels of Northern Albertans, which ultimately address skill shortages.

Provide bursaries to students in northern health practicum placements: 50 bursaries. The NADC intended to introduce a northern health bursary program in 2002-03 to assist students seeking health practicum placements to travel to Northern Alberta. The program was envisioned to provide Northern experience for students and to assist Regional Health Authorities (RHAs) in recruiting to address healthcare worker shortages. Province-wide reorganization of RHAs late in the fiscal year delayed implementation of this program to 2003-04.

Bursary Partnerships Program matching funds committed: $135,000.

The target for the Bursary Partnership Program was to confirm $135,000 in matching funding from partners. The actual amount committed was $210,000, as indicated in the following table:

	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03
Partner Contribution Target	$ 125,000	130,000	135,000
Number of Bursaries	132	143	147

BPP Portion	$ 136,450	140,800	153,500

SOURCE: Bursaries database

NADC bursary recipients return service rate: 75%. As part of the NADC bursary program, students are required to enter into a reciprocal agreement to work in the North upon completion of their education. The return service rate measures compliance with this obligation. The rate includes both those students in the process of completing their return service and those who have completed their obligation. Seventy-eight percent (78%) of NADC bursary recipients returned to work in the North after completing their education in 2002-03, exceeding the Ministry's target (see table below).

Northern LINKS program student participants who indicate their participation in the Northern LINKS project will ease their transition and encourage program completion: achieve an average rating of 8 out of 10.

The performance measure for Northern LINKS is the percentage of students planning to pursue post-secondary/trades education who expect their participation in the program to ease their transition and encourage program completion.

In 2002-03, $421,430 in Northern LINKS funding was approved for 66 projects. A total of 2,356 students provided feedback to the NADC. When asked how the project helped them to plan for post-secondary education (1=poor; 10=excellent), respondents provided an overall rating of 7.5 out of 10 (2002 - 7.9 out of 10). The decline in ratings could be attributable to first-time delivery of the program to junior high-school students, who may be less likely to appreciate its relevance.

Goal 7: Human Resources

► INTRODUCTION

During 2002-03, AAND continued development and implementation of a Ministry human resource (HR) plan that reflects all Corporate Human Resource Plan priorities. The Ministry's HR plan complements the overall Government of Alberta Human Resource Development Strategy, a key cross-ministry administrative initiative.

Effective capacity-building and engagement with stakeholders require a highly functioning and healthy corporate environment. AAND's shared human resources staff creates and implements personal and professional development plans. Activities and results related to implementation of the Ministry's HR plan during 2002-03 are as follows:

Skill development: One focus for the Ministry was development of knowledge, skills, and abilities of staff to meet or exceed the challenges outlined in the Ministry business plan through effective learning strategies. The Ministry developed and implemented a training plan to achieve departmental core competency requirements.

Performance planning and management: AAND strives to ensure that all employees have the skills necessary to achieve current and future goals through effective performance planning, performance management, and learning plans. AAND managers now have learning plans incorporated into their performance plans.

Leadership development and succession planning: AAND focuses on meeting long-term human resource needs through effective staffing, leadership development, and succession planning. During the past year, Executive Managers and the Deputy Minister actively supported and participated in Executive Manager Training through the Corporate Executive Development Program. Within the department, suitable candidates are available for most key leadership positions.

Corporate recognition: An important aspect of HR planning is to create a supportive environment that values recognition of the contributions and commitment of staff at all levels.

Results in each of the above areas are assessed through the Alberta Public Service Corporate Employee Survey (see Performance Measures for Goal 7).

To build an effective and valued Ministry through the development of its human resources.

► CONCLUSIONS AND CHALLENGES FOR GOAL 7

The desired outcome of human resource development within the Ministry is the provision of effective service to clients, stakeholders and partners. The Ministry's stakeholder and partner surveys (see Goal 2, Performance Measures) indicate that the Ministry will be challenged to continue to meet increasing stakeholder and partner expectations.

► PERFORMANCE MEASURES FOR GOAL 7

AAND measures progress toward its human resources goal using the Corporate Employee Survey administered annually across the Alberta Public Service (APS). Fifty-eight percent (58%) of Ministry staff participated in the 2002 Corporate Employee Survey. The margin of error for AAND employee survey results is no greater than +/-8.5% at a 95% confidence interval. For the APS as a whole (APS averages), the sample size was 7,068, with a margin of error no greater than +/-1% at a 95% confidence interval.

Key results related to the Ministry's 2002-05 business plan strategies are as follows:

Skill development: Ninety-four percent (94%) of departmental managers surveyed agreed that their employees have the skills and knowledge to meet current requirements of the job. This is above the APS average result of 90%.

Performance planning and management: Eighty-one percent (81%) of managers agreed that their employees have the skills and knowledge to meet future job requirements. This is slightly below the APS average of 83%.

Leadership development and succession planning: Fifty percent (50%) of managers agreed that they are able to attract the employees they need—within 4% of the APS average. Eighty-one percent (81%) of AAND managers agreed they are able to retain the talent they need (18% higher than the APS average).

Corporate recognition: Fifty-nine (59%) of AAND employees were satisfied with non-monetary recognition they received for their work—11% higher than the APS average. Fifty-nine percent (59%) of employees agreed that the Ministry provides recognition for their contribution to progress on business goals. This is 17% higher than the APS average.

Future Corporate Planning Direction

In response to the 2002 Report of the Financial Management Commission, all ministries were required to change the focus of their business plans and link their goals to core business expenditures. AAND reduced the number of goals from seven to five and the number of performance measures from sixteen to nine. Changes to the Ministry's goals and performance measures for 2003-06 are outlined in the table below:

Auditor's Report

To the Members of the Legislative Assembly

I have audited the statement of financial position of the Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development as at March 31, 2003 and the statements of operations and changes in financial position for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of management of the Ministry. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

The Ministry is required to follow the corporate government accounting policies and reporting practices established by Alberta Finance, including the following policy that is an exception from Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. Capital assets costing less than $15,000 have been expensed in the year acquired and have not been recognized as assets in the accompanying statement of financial position. Consequently, the annual amortization of these assets has not been recognized in the statement of operations. In my opinion, an amount of approximately $849,000, representing the net book value of these assets as at March 31, 2003, should be recognized in these financial statements. The effect of this understatement of assets is to understate expenses by approximately $687,000 for the year ended March 31, 2003.

In my opinion, except for the effects of the matter discussed in the preceding paragraph, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Ministry as at March 31, 2003 and the results of its operations and the changes in its financial position for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For the year ended March 31, 2003

NOTE 1 AUTHORITY AND PURPOSE

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development operates under the authority of the Government Organization Act, Chapter G-10, Revised Statutes of Alberta 2000.

The purpose of the Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development is to lead in the development of government-wide strategies and policies to improve the well-being and self-reliance of Aboriginal people; to promote development of northern Alberta; and to guide Alberta's relations with Aboriginal and northern governments, communities and organizations and other partners.

NOTE 2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND REPORTING PRACTICES

These financial statements are prepared in accordance with the following accounting policies that have been established by government for all ministries. The recommendations of the Public Sector Accounting Board of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants are the primary source for the disclosed basis of accounting. Recommendations of the Accounting Standards Board of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, other authoritative pronouncements, accounting literature, and published financial statements relating to either the public sector or analogous situations in the private sector are used to supplement the recommendations of the Public Sector Accounting Board where it is considered appropriate.

A. Reporting Entity

The reporting entity is the Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development for which the Minister of Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development is accountable.

All departments of the Government of Alberta operate within the General Revenue Fund (the Fund). The Fund is administered by the Minister of Finance. All cash receipts of departments are deposited into the Fund and all cash disbursements made by departments are paid from the Fund. Net transfer to/from General Revenues is the difference between all cash receipts and all cash disbursements made.

B. Basis of Financial Reporting

Revenues

All revenues are reported using the accrual method of accounting.

Dedicated Revenue

Dedicated revenue initiatives provide a basis for authorizing spending. Dedicated revenues must be shown as credits or recoveries in the details of the Government Estimates for a supply vote. If actual dedicated revenues are less than budget and total voted expenses are not reduced by an amount sufficient to cover the deficiency in dedicated revenue, the following year's voted expenses are encumbered. If actual dedicated revenues exceed budget, the Ministry may, with the approval of the Treasury Board, use the excess revenue to fund additional expenses on the program. Schedule 1 discloses information on the Ministry's dedicated revenue initiative.

Expenses

Directly Incurred

Directly incurred expenses are those costs the Ministry has primary responsibility and accountability for, as reflected in the government's budget documents.

In addition to program operating expenses like salaries, supplies, etc., directly incurred expenses also include:

- pension costs which comprise the cost of employer contributions for current service of employees during the year.
- valuation adjustments which include changes in the valuation allowances used to reflect financial assets at their net recoverable or other appropriate value. Valuation adjustments also represent the change in management's estimate of future payments arising from obligations relating to vacation pay, guarantees and indemnities.

Incurring by Others

Services contributed by other entities in support the Ministry operations are disclosed in Schedule 6.

Assets

Financial assets of the Ministry are limited to financial claims, such as advances to and receivables from other organizations, employees and other individuals. The fair values of the financial assets are estimated to approximate their book values. Fair value is the amount of consideration agreed upon in an arm's length transaction between knowledgeable, willing parties who are under no compulsion to act.

Accounts receivable are non-interest bearing and unsecured.

Advances represent amounts provided to Ministry employees for travel expenses and are non-interest bearing and recoverable on demand.

The threshold for capitalizing new systems development is $100,000 and the threshold for all other capital assets is $15,000. The Ministry has no capital assets exceeding these thresholds.

Liabilities

Liabilities represent all financial claims payable by the Ministry at fiscal year end. The fair value of accounts payable and accrued liabilities is estimated to approximate their book value.

Net Liabilities

Net liabilities represents the difference between the values of assets held by the Ministry and its liabilities.

NOTE 4 COMMITMENTS

As at March 31, 2003, the Ministry has a commitment of $40 million (2002 - $50 million) under the Metis Settlements Accord Implementation Act. The Act requires payment of $10 million per year until April 1, 2006.

In 1997 an agreement was signed suspending Sections 7, 8 and schedule 1 of the Metis Settlements Accord Implementation Act. These sections outlined future obligations with respect to matching of the amount the Metis Settlements Council collected from eligible sources each year until March 31, 2002, and provided for matching grants in the years from April 1, 2002 to March 31, 2007. As future obligations cannot be determined, these sections of the agreement have been replaced with annual amendments that provide for the current year's allocation.

A Matching Grants Replacement Agreement between the Ministry and the Metis Settlements General Council provides for a commitment of funding to the Metis Settlements General Council of $5,272,000 (2002 - $6,269,000).

The Ministry has commitments to pay $1,000,000 over the next three years under protocol agreements and memoranda of understanding with First Nations.

The Ministry has a commitment to pay $15,150,000 over the next six years under a settlement agreement with a First Nation. $2,650,000 will be paid in 2003-04 and thereafter the annual commitment is $2,500,000.

As at March 31, 2003, the Ministry also had service contract and grant contract commitments totaling $362,000 (2002 - $453,000).

NOTE 5 CONTINGENT LIABILITY
