

Alberta Tourism Market Monitor

Tourism indicators continue to show mixed signals

The tourism indicators tracked in this publication remain a mixed bag, with strong performances in some instances, and weaker performances in others.

Modest increase in air passenger traffic at Calgary International Airport while remaining flat at Edmonton International Airport

Traffic at Calgary International Airport grew by 2.1% in September (compared to Sept. 2014): domestic arrivals and departures increased by 3.4% compared to last September, which was offset by a slowdown in transborder (-0.1%) and international air traffic (-3.4%).

Traffic at Edmonton International Airport edged down marginally by 0.5% in October, compared to the same month last year, after increases for both domestic and international traffic in the summer months. Please note: Air traffic numbers are only volume indicators and they do not provide information on the origin of visitors. These numbers represent tallies of people arriving and departing from the airports and do not take the nationality of travellers or their main trip purpose into account.

Solid performance for accommodation indices at Alberta's resorts

Alberta's accommodation indices also showed mixed signals in September. While occupancy rates declined in most of Alberta during this month (and for the year-to-date), Alberta resorts held their own in terms of growth with respect to occupancy rate (up 1.9 points from same month a year ago) and average daily room rate (up 12.8% from September 2014). This may be a sign that leisure travel remains strong on the back of a weaker Canadian dollar, which keeps Canadians travelling in Canada and attracts tourists from abroad, especially the United States.

Alberta's National Parks visitation continues upward trend

Furthermore, visitation at the three National Parks tracked also continued its upward trend in September indicating 2015 may well be another record year for Park visitor attendance. This could indicate that Albertans may be travelling closer to home due to the weak Canadian dollar and the fragile economy. Banff National Park recorded more than 433,000 visitors in September (up 8.8% from same month in 2014), while Jasper National Park welcomed almost 297,000 visitors (7.6% increase compared to last September). Waterton Lakes welcomed 59,700 visitors in September, an increase of 12.2% from last September.
