ORGANIZATION OF THIS DOCUMENT

The authorized resource lists for Knowledge and Employability courses are organized by subject/occupational strand. The lists are organized as follows:

Authorized Resources Listed by Subject (Grades 8–12)

Student Basic Resources are listed alphabetically within each grade, followed by Student Support Resources and Teaching Resources. Each entry provides the following information:

- series name (if applicable)
- title of resource
- authorization category (student basic, student support, teaching)
- grades authorized for
- vendor/distributor name, order number and price
- other Knowledge and Employability subjects authorized for (if any).

Annotated Bibliography Listed Alphabetically by Title

Each of the resources listed has a corresponding annotation. Each annotation page identifies the:

- series name (if applicable)
- title of resource
- type of resource—the annotation has an icon of the type of the resource (e.g., print, video, CD-ROM)
- authorization category (student basic, student support, teaching)
- grades authorized for
- subjects authorized for
- vendor/distributor name, order number and price.

RESOURCE AUTHORIZATION CATEGORIES

Knowledge and Employability Resources

The resource lists for Knowledge and Employability courses contain learning and teaching resources that have been authorized for use in Alberta schools.

Alberta Education selects and authorizes resources to support the implementation of programs of study. Teachers are encouraged to select resources that meet the diverse learning needs of students they teach. The resource authorization categories are student basic, student support or teaching:

Student Basic learning resources are those student learning resources authorized by Alberta Education as the most appropriate for addressing the majority of outcomes of the course(s) or substantial components of the course(s); or the most appropriate for meeting general outcomes across two or more grade levels.

Student Support learning resources are those student learning resources authorized by Alberta Education to assist in addressing some of the outcomes of the course(s) or components of the course(s); or to assist in meeting the outcomes across two or more grade levels.

Teaching resources are those teaching resources identified as the best available resources to support the implementation of programs of study and courses; they may be teacher guides to accompany student resources or teacher professional resources. The authorized teaching guides are listed with the student resources.

These resources are organized by grade, authorization status and title in alphabetical order. Series names are italicized. Grade level(s) are indicated beside each title and there is a cross-reference column to other Knowledge and Employability subjects on the right side of the page.

Note:

Alberta Education strongly recommends that teachers read all selections in the student resources and all activities in the teacher guides prior to using them with students. Careful consideration should be given to the sensitivities of both the student audience and the community, and to the reading levels of students.

This set of resources supports the carpentry strand of the Knowledge and Employability courses for levels 10-4, 20-4 and 30-4. The carpentry applications guide contains photograph sequences that show samples of the outcomes after each hands-on task. Each section contains a performance checklist that uses rubrics for marking. A set of review questions ends each chapter. The textbook is well-organized and easy to follow, using colour, white space and side bars effectively. The textbook includes information on tool safety and safety on the job site, as well as specific building construction topics and careers related to carpentry. Carpentry math provides students with tasks to refresh and reinforce the knowledge they need to produce specific practical outcomes in class. PowerPoint presentations on the CD-ROM provide visual information on specific topics. These presentations supplement and solidify the knowledge gained in class. The instructor resource guide provides support to understand and apply the objectives needed for students to be successful in building construction. In addition, the instructor resource guide contains multiple choice tests for the topics covered in the textbook. The CD-ROM provides the teacher with the opportunity to produce a test appropriate to student abilities.

Comments:

- The textbook covers only imperial measure.
- This is an American textbook. Other materials are required to cover Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System (WHMIS) and Occupational Health and Safety Act (OHSA).

This resource supports the grades 8 to 9 plastics program as well as other programs that incorporate the design process in selecting materials for manufacturing. The video defines and illustrates the differences between a thermoplastic and thermoset and provides an explanation of the history, need, discovery and manufacture of plastics. Examples illustrate the need for, and advantages of, composite plastics. Manufactured products are shown to demonstrate how different plastics are combined to give unique and useful properties (e.g., tensile strength, rigidity/flexibility, weight, formability, cost) to meet the needs of special applications. This video complements the video, Plastics: Properties and Uses.

Comments:

- This video uses up-to-date products that are interesting to students to illustrate the properties of composites.
- As with other videos in the series, teacher's notes and a multiple choice test are included in the package.

This resource kit includes a hardcover student text, a teacher resource guide, a series of lab softcover books, a student motivation kit that includes laminated project and activity cards, reteaching and enrichment activities, and a CD-ROM with lesson plans and a test generator. There is a student workbook and a teacher annotated edition of the student workbook. Subjects include sewing, foods, personal development and career integration; e.g., money management for mathematics. Transition activities for students going into senior high school, e.g., peer pressure, self-actualization, self-concept, are included. The CD-ROM is easily accessible and includes a Word document copy of the student workbook and the teacher guide. An exam bank provides a very quick way to create a test. Posters for motivation in each area are engaging and the individual area teacher support books are well-organized and informative; e.g., the cooking component offers recipes applicable to the age group with clear instruction.

Comments:

- This resource is applicable to grades 8 and 9. Individual units and visuals may be appropriate at different grades.
- The kit is a starting point for new Knowledge and Employability students.
- Some of the student pictures are more appropriate for younger grades, yet others show senior high school students. Teachers should be sensitive to age-appropriate sections.

These videos (Parts 1 and 2) illustrate and explain various handheld power tools one would find in a typical school workshop. The segmented style allows the teacher to use only one segment at a time, if desired, to illustrate one specific tool or to view in its entirety. The power tools shown in Part One include circular saws, reciprocating saws, and jigsaws. Part Two includes drills, routers, and sanders. Both parts begin with an overview/reminder of general safety guidelines for most shops. Specific safety procedures are then taught in relation to the operation of each tool throughout the video. Care is taken to include different applications and video footage of such. This is a good introductory video for the school workshop. A brief paper quiz is included with the video.

Comments:

- Use only to augment a safety unit, not as the main source of instruction.

The Knowledge and Employability Studio is the online guide to implementation for the Knowledge and Employability courses. There are four levels in the Studio. The Main Lobby contains program updates, contact information, a video introduction and a virtual tour of the Studio. New update information is displayed on the screen in the lobby. Curriculum Foundations, found on Level 2, contains activities and strategies to support teachers and students with the implementation of four core subjects: English language arts, social studies, science and mathematics. Click on the title of the course for further information. Within each subject are folders that contain resources aligned with the program of studies outcomes within that subject area. Level 3 contains information on each of the occupational strands. Poster-like artwork displays the name of each strand. In the same manner as the second level, each icon, when opened, illustrates a collection of activities and strategies aligned with the program of studies outcomes within each occupational strand. Workstations for administrators, teachers, students, parents and industry are found on Level 4. The folders and resources function in the same manner as the other levels but reveal learning and teaching resources to support teachers, students and parents. The Administrators Workstation contains the Information Manual for Knowledge and Employability Courses. The Industry Workstation contains information for employers working with students in off-campus situations.

The focus is on thermoplastics and describing the need for, and advantages of, plastic composites. Examples illustrate how the physical properties (e.g., strength, buoyancy) and chemical properties (e.g., resistance to acids) of different plastics are combined in such a way to give unique and useful properties to meet the needs of special applications. This video complements the video, Composites: Properties, Processing and Uses.

Comments:

- This video uses up-to-date products that are interesting to students to illustrate the properties of composites.
- As with other videos in the series, teacher's notes and a multiple choice test are included in the package.

Read to Live provides information, strategies and activities that teachers can use to engage and support students who are experiencing difficulties with reading. The focus is on helping students think about reading in a new way by connecting classroom experiences with students' lifeworlds.

This resource, which is a series of workshops to enhance student literacy at the junior and senior high school levels, is intended for teachers who are new to teaching, new to teaching students with reading difficulties or just looking for extra support. It can also be used by more experienced teachers to mentor colleagues and create a community of practice.

The first workshop, Introduction: Responsive Teaching, describes an approach to teaching reading that focuses on addressing students' unique learning needs. This is followed by three more in-depth workshops, which explore different elements of reading: Contexts of Reading, Active Reading and Multiple Texts/Multiple Literacies. Each of these workshops contains three sections: Background, Reading Strategies and Teaching Strategies.

The workshops can be explored in multiple sittings, in whatever way is most useful. Teachers can explore the information in any order; however, teachers new to teaching reading or to the concepts covered may find it most useful to start with the Background.

Background

The background section summarizes important concepts, research findings and other information on the topic. Links provide further information on relevant theorists and researchers.

Reading Strategies

The reading strategies section offers sample strategies teachers can model, teach and reinforce to help students become more effective readers. These strategies apply and build on the concepts in the background section.

Teaching Strategies

The teaching strategies section provides sample instructional strategies and activities teachers can use to strengthen students' understanding and motivation.

This teacher resource, fifth in the series, addresses units on Health and Lifestyle, Safety Management and Procedures, and Personal and Workplace Safety. Each unit presents relevant information followed by formative and summative student exercises. The handouts provided are ready to use and adequately assess the goals of the manual. Safety applications are related to the students through scenarios in the home, school and workplace. The section on compensation is accurate in Alberta. First aid is not addressed in this manual; references are made to the importance of acquiring these skills in an approved program. This resource is intended for the Career Development, Safety and Universal Strategies occupations modules, but could be applied successfully to health and science.

Comments:

- The student assignments are effective but no scoring rubrics or answer keys are provided.
- Some written assignments may need to be restructured for less capable learners.

This student text and CD-ROM deal with layout, design and drafting as well as structures and mechanisms that use materials, such as woods, metals and plastics. There is also a section on electronics. This resource enables the student to understand how products work and why they look the way they do. It also enables the student to design and create items. The vocabulary and reading level of this text are at Levels 1 and 2 and are suitable for grades 8 and 9. The full colour illustrations and photographs are plentiful and assist in explaining the various topics. The CD-ROM extends explanations of terminology through glossaries and examples.

Comments:

- The quality of the CD-ROM will likely not hold student interest for any length of time.

Today's Teen resource package includes a hardcover student text, a student workbook, a teacher resource guide, a CD-ROM, a transparency package, a hardcover teacher edition, and a student workbook annotated teacher edition. The resource promotes success in everyday living and the text and worksheets are complementary. There are eleven units in the text including: building personal potential, exploring careers, relationship skills, friend and family relationships, children, consumer/money management, personal health and wellness, food and nutrition, safety in the kitchen, clothing, and housing interiors. The resource presents information clearly and with simple illustrations. Today's Teen could be used as a cross grade resource using specific chapters at certain grade levels. Teacher package gives options, suggested time spans for teachers, is well organized and teachers can use with "minimal" preparation. The teacher's guide has an overview, curriculum correlation chart, planning chart, section on accommodating various learning styles, section on additional activities and student activities. The teacher answer help provided a variety of assessment tools such as crosswords, short answer, and word searches. The test bank was easy to modify; multimedia use is provided.

Comments:

- An American book using American agencies, resources and measurements which would need to be replaced with names of Alberta organizations etc.
- There is nothing included for record keeping in the package.
- The Career Exploration was generally unrealistic at Knowledge and Employability achievement levels. Construction skills focused on sewing at an advanced level.

This video provides a comprehensive survey of sharpening and honing techniques for chisels, gouges, planes, scrapers, turning tools, saws and boring tools. Detailed, clear close-ups, with good positioning, give the viewer tips on technique, accuracy and the appropriate method for sharpening/honing various tools. Sequencing by tool types makes this video amenable to segmented presentation to students. It is also suitable for online instruction. Techniques include the sharpening of hand saws, which is of interest to traditional woodworkers. The importance of care and respect for the tools of the woodworker's trade is evident throughout the video.

Comments:

- This video will be most useful for students at upper levels and may also be useful to inform younger students about appropriate tool care and maintenance.

What Everyone Should Know About Toxicology is a live action video designed to help people understand the types of toxic materials found around the workplace and their effects. The program reviews the basic terminology used in the field of toxicology and covers the differences between point of contact and remote side effects of toxic materials and between immediate and delayed effects. The program also describes hazards of different classes of materials and includes guidelines for minimizing exposure to toxic or hazardous materials. It should be recognized that this audiovisual program is only one part of a comprehensive training program understanding the range and effects of toxic materials. For optimum results, this presentation should be supplemented with a review of the types of protective equipment to be used around specific types of materials. Measures have been taken to ensure that the information contained in the program and this Leader's Guide is accurate and reliable. However, since information on exposure levels, specific chemicals and protective equipment may vary depending on the work to be done and particular local policies, the training session leader should take this into consideration when presenting this program.

Level 2		✓				✓	✓	✓	✓	✓

Both videos focus on safety when working with power tools.

Volume 1 – Band Saw gives various demonstrations on how to properly change the blades to make a straight cut. It focuses on the adjustment of side and back guides to prevent the roller bearing from burning out. In adjusting the blade, focus is on the height of the guard, placement of hands in relation to the blade, and safety eye and respiratory wear. Other areas covered include ripping, cutting curves, parallel curves, re-sawing and cutting round stock.

Volume 2 – Drill Press looks at parts of the press and how a student can safely change the drill press speeds. In using a wood table, a demonstration is given on how to clamp materials safely before using the drill press. The student is shown how to place a drill bit in the drill press and the function of each bit. Various drill bits are shown, such as a hole saw bit which is often used, for example, for drilling holes in stock for plugs and cords or creating a hole in a new door to insert a door knob.

Comments:

- An American dollar bill is used to demonstrate the snugness of the blade in the Band Saw video.

After reviewing the imperial and metric measurement systems, Basic Methods of Measuring and Cutting demonstrates how to measure and mark lumber and then cut with handsaws and portable power saws. It includes information on safety, assorted measuring tools, such as combination square, steel ruler and folding ruler, and cutting, measuring and layout techniques.

Glueing and Clamping demonstrates ways to join wood. Techniques covered in the video include using a variety of glues, clamps and dowels. Safety information as it applies to the techniques and tools used is included.

Working with Nails and Screws demonstrates the how-to of driving and removing different types of nails and explains how to work with wood screws. Information on types of nails and their benefits and shortcomings for different applications is provided. There are descriptions of hammers and their uses with techniques for safely using the tools and equipment illustrated. The video also gives a summary of the methods.

The Workplace Health and Safety Teacher Resource Binders and Teacher Toolkit were developed as a joint initiative by Alberta Education and Alberta Human Resources and Employment to support teachers in the delivery of workplace health and safety outcomes. The resource actively promotes the safety of all workers in Alberta, particularly young workers, and documents Alberta health and safety legislation and regulations. Students will become aware of their rights and responsibilities with respect to workplace health and safety concerns.

The two-binder set of workplace health and safety information is divided into seven chapters: legislation, health and safety management systems, physical hazards, chemical hazards, biological hazards, psychosocial hazards and ergonomics. Each chapter includes topic-specific content that is followed by a supplemental information section with course-specific, industry-specific or occupation-specific information. Teacher notes, handouts, overheads and additional resources are also included with each chapter. The accompanying Workplace Health and Safety Teacher Toolkit complements the resource binders with posters, publications, cards and CDs. The toolkit is organized into nine sections: statistics, videos, posters, cards, publications, general, employment and standards information, workers' compensation information and other.

Comments:

- This resource has the potential for transfer to any school or workplace setting.
- The resource contains reference to a workplace fatality (page 12 of the legislation section) that was widely reported in the Alberta media. Teacher judgment is advised in the use of this reference as students who knew the deceased or were related to him might be in the classroom.
