DID YOU KNOW?

- Pyeongchang County in the province of Gangwon will host the 2018 Winter Olympics.
- Pyeongchang is located southeast of Seoul in the southern part of Gangwon's Taebaek Mountain region. At 700 meters above sea-level, Pyeongchang's mountains are the centre for winter sports and are referred to as "Korea's Alps."
- Gangwon was divided during the Korean War (1950-53). One-third of the province's former territory is in North Korea.
- South Korean provinces have gained more autonomy since 1995 although the scope of their responsibilities still is considerably less than that of Canadian provinces.

- There are 18 administrative districts in Gangwon (7 cities with populations over 50,000 and 11 counties).
- Similar to parts of Alberta, Gangwon has heavily forested areas. Just under 20 per cent of the land in Gangwon is available for farming and other uses. Gangwon province has a land mass of 16,874 square kilometers; roughly 17 per cent of the total area in South Korea. Gangwon consists of about 81.6 per cent, or 13,782 km square km of forest. Only 8.4 per cent of the land is for farming, and 10 per cent is for other uses.
- With a population of approximately 273,130 (2012), the capital city of Chuncheon has about 1/3 of the population of Edmonton.
- Gangwon has sister province relationships with Mpumalanga in South Africa, Jilin in China, Totori Prefecture in Japan, Primorskii Territory in Russia and Colorado in the United States.
- Gangwon Province is working to become a "Global Bio & Healthcare Industrial Capital" and to create the foundation for encouraging low-carbon, green growth.
- Part of Gangwon's regional development strategy is based on building a knowledge-based industrial cluster through a multi-core structure, with three core cities (Chuncheon, Wonju and Gangneung) forming a "Techno Valley Triangle."

RELATIONSHIP OVERVIEW

- The Alberta-Gangwon cooperation began in the 1970s with a joint beef ranching demonstration project.
- The 1974 formation of the Alberta-Gangwon sister province relationship was the first for Alberta. Most activities have involved education, culture and sport exchanges, but have expanded into research, science and technology, and business relations.
- In July 2015, Vice-Governor KIM Jeongsam of Gangwon visited Edmonton where he and the Premier of Alberta signed the 40th anniversary Protocol of Reaffirmation of the sister province relationship between Gangwon and Alberta.
- 2014 marked the 40th anniversary of the Alberta-Gangwon sister province relationship. In recognition, a pavilion, built of Canadian wood, was gifted from Alberta to Gangwon. The pavilion was constructed outside of the Alpensia Resort, a VIP site where visiting dignitaries and media will be housed during the 2018 Winter Olympics.
- In 2012, Alberta and Gangwon signed an agreement for a friendship sport exchange between the provinces.
- As a Centennial gift to Alberta (2005), and to mark the 30th anniversary of the Alberta-Gangwon sister province relationship (2004), Gangwon constructed a Korean-style jeongja (pavilion) which is located on the grounds of Government House.

- Alberta and Gangwon have participated in staff exchanges. Alberta has posted three officials to Gangwon since 1998 and several Gangwon officials have worked in Alberta.

TRADE AND INVESTMENT

- Trade between Alberta and Gangwon is limited and indirect, mainly involving agriculture and food products.
- Following the lead of the national South Korean government, Gangwon is streamlining its regulations in an effort to attract foreign investment and capital.

ENERGY

- Gangwon had produced most of Korea's coal but it does not produce that much anymore.
- Gangwon, with the best wind power resources in Korea, has highly advantageous condition in developing the province into a wind power generation hub in Korea. In 2015, Gangwon deployed the largest number of wind power plants in Korea with 125 units. The province plans to increase it by more than double by 2018.

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

- Alberta's Ministry of Innovation and Advanced Education provides support for an international research collaboration between the University of Calgary (U of C) and the Korean company M & D, based in Gangwon. The project focuses on measuring cancer cells and tissue samples to measure biomarker expression in real-time.
- In April 2012, the Government of Alberta hosted a delegation from the Gangwon Technopark as part of an ongoing collaborative research and commercialization initiative.
- In May 2005, Alberta signed a letter of intent with the Gangwon Department of Industry and Economy to promote opportunities for joint research and development activities in science, technology and commercialization in both regions.
- Approximately $1.5 million has been contributed to 11 projects through the Alberta-Gangwon Collaboration Program since 2005. Funding has supported researchers and/or companies in Alberta and Gangwon to collaborate on various projects.
- Alberta-Gangwon Technology Forums were held in 2005 (Gangwon), 2006 (Alberta) and 2012 (Alberta) resulting in joint business and research and development projects.
